DEDICATION

To one who has given his life to the uplifting of humanity—ever conscious of his obligations to his Alma Mater—and to one who has forged ahead in his respective field to make the world a better place for his having lived therein, we sincerely dedicate this book.

FOREWORD

A great deal of talent is lost in the world for want of a little courage. Every day sends to their graces obscure men whom timidity prevented from making a first effort; who, if they could have been induced to begin, would in all probability have gone great lengths in the career of game. The fact is, that to do anything in the world worth doing, we must not stand back shivering and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump and scramble through as well as we can.

Courage and perserverance have a magical talisman, before which our difficulties have disappeared and our obstacles have vanished into the air, thus we are able to present the second volume of the MORRISITE.

The PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I. D. PINSON, President

"Humanity needs a faith that love is at the heart of life, that love is superior to hate, that men must become brotherly or they perish, that a law of service and sacrifice underlies life, that the law of sowing and reaping is in the structure of things, that happiness is an accompaniment or consequence of the good life and never an end, and that the only permanent award of life is CREATIVE LIVING."

To those noble souls who pioneered the way in establishing this Institution, to those who stand by in heroism and sacrifice to help when the going is hardest, to those graduates and former students who are serving in various fields in many parts of the country, led on by the elusive ideal yet never faltering, this page is respectfully dedicated.

THE CLASS CALENDAR

Life is a full-blown year, with all things in their season
Thus, in our school career, each change hath rhyme and reason;
The seasons come and go—each with its gifts in hand,
That we may see and know—how well all life is planned.

1935-'36 FRESHMAN YEAR

● SPRING is the time of all green and growing things; what more fitting, then, that the Freshman, in this green time of his life, should enter college? The March winds and the April showers were very necessary to the budding of the shoots of knowledge in the Freshman mind. And we, so green in our dewy innocence, received at this time the first seeds of knowledge and felt the first pull of the plow and the cultivator in this spring of our career. And this was the year of nineteen hundred and thirty-five.

Summing it all up we might say with the poet—that "Once came sixty babies—
Through our magic gates to pass—
Scattering 'If you please,' and 'Maybes'—
Weren't they as green as grass?"

1936-'37 SOPHOMORES

● SUMMER—The March winds and April showers brought forth an abundance of May flowers, and the Summertime came upon us almost before we knew; so delightfully did the one season blend into the other. We found that the skies were much bluer and the sun shone more warmly upon us. We held our heads very high and we kept the stalks that supported them very straight. They were not yet so heavy with their accumulation of wisdom and so did not droop with the weight. But our flowers were unfolding little by little. We were slowly but surely coming out into the light of day. We gayly marched along for we had such personalities to join us as the Misses Eleanor Handberry and Sara Burroughs, and Messrs. Charles Pickett and Roland Niles. Misses Pearl Watkins, Edith Brown and Willie Mae Spann broke ranks with us, leaving us to long for the "new Domain" where Juniors ruled so royally. Our buds had become blossoms and the color of our dominant characteristics had changed with the unfolding of the larger blooms.

1937-'38 JUNIORS

● AUTUMN—But verily, in school life, even as in nature, "Leaves have their time to fall, and flowers to wither." Very brilliant was our foliage that year, very rich our fruitage, as the little buds of the Freshman year, grown into the flowers of Sophomore development, became the richer, and more satisfying fruit of the Autumn. It was indeed the harvest of our early planting—the reaping of the results of all our dreams and hopes and efforts. Regretfully we accepted a farewell from the Misses Clara Bright, Ida Rutherford, Ruby Glenn, Pearl Wilson, Louise Lee, Alva Murray, Lillian Kirven, Ruth Briggs and Daisy Bell and George Tanner, as they chose to pursue different avocations of life, leaving us with our dreams and visions of soon becoming Seniors. New troopers joined us in the persons of Mr. Wm. Swinton and Miss Josie Tinsley. But it was not all glory and wonder and splendor. There were tests, cultivations and the Fall planting, and with all our wisdom, there was much to be desired.

1938-'39 SENIORS

● WINTER—But even this stage passed on into eternity; the fruit was all gathered and stored away with our memories, and with the snows of all the past in hoary wisdom upon our heads, we welcome the approach of Winter. Rugged in our young manhood and womanhood, clad in spotless snow and frost, protecting the yet immature germs of developing life from the blighting atmosphere, we stand at the end of our course. More of our classmates succumbed to the call of "Fate," namely: Misses Corrie L. Shephard, Mary Raiford, Anna Ross, Geneva Dickson, Louise Hastie, Anna Jenkins and Messrs. Randolph Wright, Charles Pickett and Reverend Horton. In their stead we welcomed the Misses Janye Mattison, Margie Thompson, Vernice Taylor, Marylyn Dean, Elizabeth Dantzler and Messrs. Charles Logan, Grover Belton, Jack Tarleton.

It seems a sadder time than we expected. The world outside is cold. We know not what to expect from its bleak, bare atmosphere. But we must not forget that tomorrow we will all enter into a renewal of life in a glad, glorious, new springtime. And so we go forth, robed in the snowy emblem of our purification, no longer green, nor red, nor even blue—"For the last year satisfying—must all shadows safely blow; Senior life is purifying, and we pass—as white as snow."

—Reholda Garner, '39.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-nine, being about to depart from this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind and a well-trained memory, do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made, or mayhaps, carelessly spoken, one to the other, as the thoughtless wish of an idle hour.

To our beloved Faculty, we give and bequeath all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our examination papers—and a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams.

To our kind and noble President, Dr. I. D. Pinson, we bequeath our sincere affection, our deepest reverence, our gratitude and the unlimited wealth of our eternal memory.

To the Junior class, we give and bequeath our Senior dignity. May they uphold it forever.

To the Freshman and Sophomore classes, we give any stubs of pencils, erasers or scraps of paper that we may leave behind us in the excitement and haste of gathering up our cherished treasures for the last time. May they feel free to use them and feel, perhaps, that they may in some mystic way, impart some of our great knowledge to them.

To the football team of next year, we bequeath the ability of Saint Harrison Willie L. Holman and W. Swinton. And now personally—:

Miss Ethel Smith wills her ability to "march" to Miss Geneva Ramsey. Miss Velma Smith wills her line of "jive" to Miss Hattie Frazier. Miss Rosa Sumter leaves her ability to get along with people to Miss Clara McDowell. Mr. Wm. Swinton leaves his knowledge of history to Mr. Charles Butler. Mr. Gadson Tarleton graciously bestows his scholastic ability upon Mr. T. B. Butler, and his knowledge of mathematics to Mr. McKinley McKnight. Miss Vernice Taylor leaves her sweet disposition to Miss Rosa Woods. Miss Margie Thompson leaves her manner of mixing with people to Miss Mary Pinckney. Miss Josephine Tinsley leaves her "large" vocabularly to Mr. Richard Pleasant. Miss Willie M. White would like nothing better than to leave Miss Margie Carter her brown pocketbook fitted with comb, mirror, rouge, etc. It is Miss Ernestine Weston's wish that Miss Margaret Sue Williams should inherit her charming and new hair style. Miss Gladys Wilder leaves her "gift to gab" to Miss Helen White and her patience to Miss Alva Murray.

Miss Elizabeth Dantzler wills her red coat to Miss Carrie Bell. Miss Marylyn Dean leaves her "chewing wax" to Miss Carolyn Thompson, and her neat appearance to Miss Orgie Lucas. Rev. R. A. Fishburne wills his dignity to Mr. Addison Pleasant. Miss Rehoida Garner wills her position as Y. W. C. A. president, and as manager of the cafeteria to Miss Clara McDowell. Miss Beatrice Gregg wills her green coat and brown oxfords to Miss Thelma Sellers. Miss Annie L. Hall wills her oratorical ability to Miss Jessye Mae Wallace. Mr. Willie L. Holman leaves his position as Dean of men to Mr. Charles Smalls. Rev. H. O. Harvey wills his dearly beloved job as "hell-ringer" to Mr. Alphonso Robinson. Mr. Saint Harrison wills his ability to "jive" to Mr. Isaac Joe.

To Miss Zelda Jackson, Miss Grace Jackson wills her knowledge of Philosophy. Miss Annie B. Kendrick and Wanda Bailey will their seats in the "V-8" to Misses Maggie Gayle and Viola Maples.

Miss Carletta Lawrence leaves her tailored suit to Miss Essie Clinkscale. Mr. Charlie Logan wills his hash house to Mr. Olanda Foxworth. Mrs. Charlotte Jordan leaves her room to Miss Ethel Alhany. Mr. Robert McLeod leaves his ability to get "Math" to Mr. Thomas Butler. Miss Prudence McIntosh wills her dignified manner to Miss Serena Holland. Miss Beulah McLendon wills her seat in the chapel to Miss Hattie Sharper. Miss Rosalie Alsbrooks leaves her heart to Mr. John Thompson.

Miss Mollie Murray wills her V-8 to Miss Pearl Turnage. Mr. Alvin Moon wills his ability to fool the teachers to Mr. W. P. Harrison. Miss Janye Mattison wills her Senior dignity to Miss Viola Jackson. Miss Charlotte Myers leaves her position in the cafeteria to Miss Zelda Jackson. Miss Ojetta Parker wills her never-ceasing tongue to Miss Hattie Frazier. Miss Mabel Muldrow wills her seat in the park to Miss Emma Henry. Mr. Morris Pearson wishes to leave the keys to the commissary to Mr. George Tanner. Miss Jeanette Richardson wills her elaborate wardrobe to Miss Dorothy Colclough. Miss Ernestine Ham wills her height to Miss Thelma Sellers. Miss Mary Hastie wills her quiet disposition to Miss Elizabeth Plowden.

Miss Eleanor Handberry wills her size to Miss Dorothy Diggs. Miss Chanie Dobson wills her seat in English grammer to Miss Geneva Ramsey. Mr. Albert Burrough wills his bicycle to Mr. Montague Brantley. Mr. Carl Brown wills his neat appearance to Mr. Enlo Rountree. Miss Sara Burroughs wills her temper to Miss Alva Murray. Mr. Wheeler Bradley leaves his "barbering tools" to Mr. Luther Wilson. Miss Bertha China wills her eyeglasses to Miss Essie Clinkscale. Mr. Grover Belton leaves his "old tooth brush" with paste thrown in, to Mr. Charles Smalls. Miss Victoria Jackson wills her brown coat and hat to Miss Clara McDowell. Mr. Thaddeus Bacote wills his ability to play the piano to Mr. David Cooper. Misses Wilhelmenia Cain and Palma Burgess will their patience to Miss Viola Jackson.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and seal this 24th day of May in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine.

WITNESSES:
Marylyn Dean,
Margie Thompson

TESTATOR:
Grover C. Belton.

CLASS POEM

By
Grace Jackson, '39

Dear Classmates! Our time is fleeting
We on each our road must trod
Still, we've had a pleasant meeting;
Our goal is reached—by the Grace of God.

Trials and tribulations have been ours,
But day after day we still fought on;
And for those precious hours
The goal we've sought—is won.

Morris, dear, we will not forget thee;
In our hearts you will remain,
Though our parting be regretful
We will often come again.

Each year we will send our token;
The class of '39 will not fall;
Though I know we've been provoking
We'll remember you one and all.

Teachers, Friends, and Alma Mater,
Time has caused us now to part;
We'll not forget you or our Pater—
Your names will be always in each heart.

As the days will drift along,
School thoughts will keep us full of cheer,
We'll remember each chapel song
And the scenes sweet and dear.

ALMA MATER

Morris, our college dear
With hearts all filled with cheer
We come to thee—
Throughout life's checkered ways
Thy name we'll ever praise,
Teacher of youthful days
All hail to thee!

When from our homes we came—
To own thy lofty name
Breathe courage free
Parents and teachers, dear,
Calmed by the lack of fear
Pay homage through the years
All hail to thee!

CLASS PROPHECY

When the difficult task of prophesying the future of my illustrious classmates was alloted to me—you can imagine my consternation. How could I possibly even attempt to know anything about the future of such a large group of varied individuals? However, intuition finally prompted me to contact a crystal-gazer of international fame who had been brought to this country at great cost—to appear during the summer of 1939 at the New York World's Fair. Much to my surprise she did heed the request of one as insignificant as I and loaned me a valuable crystal for one hour—in which I was able to see each of my classmates in the Autumn of 1939. After my bewilderment had subsided somewhat I could discern quite distinctly my classmates in the situations which I shall relate to you.

I could see our beloved President—Carl Brown—in all his dignity and majestic bearing. His ambition had lead him ever upward and onward until he was even the President of the United States.

As I gazed among the society circles I recognized Velma Smith, Gladys Wilder and Jeanette Richardson, still striving for beauty prizes and popularity at the Hollywood Casino. As I looked among the professional circles I saw among the men of unusually brilliant minds a prosperous lawyer—none other than W. L. Holman—pleading before the bar of an Arizona court. In the same state I paused at a large cathedral and saw a stately priest in his robe of dignity—pouring forth words of inspired instructions. It was none other than Rev. Harvey. As I pondered over these revelations the door of a home swung open on a western ranch and behold, I saw a wife and mother. I rejoiced when I recognized Mary Hastie fulfilling my expectations.

While I watched the home lights die away, sweet strains of music held my soul enchanted. I saw the same person who so often played our chapel march—Vernice Taylor, giving a piano recital before an immense audience at Fisk University.

The spirit of the prophecy conducted me to a foreign city where two sat by a fireplace talking of the past. Of course they were none other than Janye Mattison and Eleanor Handberry. Janye was now a famous musician, while Eleanor danced to her delightful tunes. As they talked they were anxiously awaiting the arrival of another. When Margie Thompson arrived it was the same old trio. Margie had become a successful stenographer.

As the spell of the prophecy continued I recognized in other parts of the world among the dim shadows of millions of people the familiar countenances of some of my frivolous classmates, now transformed into active, serious-minded citizens—in the persons of Willie Mae White, Wilhelmenia Cain, and Palmer Burgess. The intensity of my vision seemed to increase as I detected Sara Burroughs and Elizabeth Dantzler in a unique dress-making shop in New York City. In the same city—to my surprise, I found Rev. Fishburne pastoring the Abyssinia Baptist Church.

In the next scene Robert McCleod appeared as Dean of men at A and T. College, and V. Jackson had organized a well-known debaters' club at the same place. I next saw Prudence McIntosh, Ethel Smith, and Chanie Dobson, successful in business and in public work in the State of Pennsylvania. Successful in the field of art in Washington, D. C., were Ojetta Parker, Ernestine Weston and Mollie Murray. To my surprise I saw Saint Harrison actually settled down to being football coach at Howard University.

In the State of Tennessee were two eminent physicians at the head of a prominent hospital. They were none other than Jack Tarleton and Grover Belton.

Rosalee Alsbrooks was thrilling a little town in Kentucky with her melodious voice and was aspiring to be a famous opera star. Rosa Sumter, Charlotte Myers and Mabel Muldrow were traveling in far countries as they pursued their duties as missionaries. Next, a beauty salon in a large building—and a fair lady operating. Yes, it was Grace Jackson in Greensboro, North Carolina. And then I saw a prosperous middle-aged man crossing the country in an airplane—and his every appearance bespoke riches. Yes, you're right. It was Albert Burroughs.

I saw Charlotte Jordan operating a beautiful tourist home in Darlington, South Carolina, and reading in her spare time the "best seller" novels written by Annie B. Kendrick and Carletta Lawrence. I got a glimpse of an efficient English teacher at Morgan College and I am positive it was Marylyn Dean.

At Tuskegee Institute the noble professor who was expounding some of that vast amount of knowledge acquired at Morris College was none other than William Swinton. At the same institution Ernestine Ham was conscientiously performing her duties as matron. Josie Tinsley—exemplifying herself as a woman of strong mind, strong will, and strong character, was winning distinction as a public speaker in a number of the most progressive cities.

Two happy wives who were spreading a great deal of sunshine above them—proved to me that inseparable chums did not let marriage come between them. They were Reholda Garner and Beatrice Gregg in Augusta, Georgia.

A curio shop in some fantastic part of the world—displaying chromas to the natives for immense sums of money, was owned and operated by Bertha China. Miss Naomi Bailey was teaching French in a junior high school in Baltimore, Maryland. In other states Morris Pearson was donating money for the construction of orphanages and the beautiful buildings were being constructed by Alvin Moon.

In the City of Sumter, William Bradley was an extremely prosperous barber and Charles Logan was the proprietor of an up-to-date cafeteria.

Mr. President, brave and wise officials of the illustrious class of '39 of Morris College, my duty is at an end—and the future is hereafter to thee and thy classmates an open book. May each of you follow faithfully the paths the crystal has marked out for your foot-steps, and so make your lives the glorious successes the fates have decreed that they are to be.

R. Alsbrooks,
G. Jackson,
C. Myers,
W. Swinton.

ATHLETICS

The football squad of 1938 was not equal to the teams of 1937 and 1936. This was due to the loss of all but a few of the letter men. Among the latter who left through graduation were "Chick" Davis, Harold McCain, Harold Delaine, T. Binew, C. Prince, W. Sanders, and W. T. Pleasant. Those who remained to join the neucleus of a new team were Butler, S. Harrison and M. Harrison. Notable addition to this year's team was Enlo Rountree, accurate passer, who, with Butler, formed a formidable passing attack feared by all who met us. There came to us also W. Boykins, guard; H. Phillips, back and end; E. Ryals, halfback; and C. C. Jones. Next season's team is expected to be a great improvement over this year's team because of the gain in experience on the part of the new men and the epected aid from newcomers.

The results of the past season show losses to Swift Memorial, Morristown, Paine, Claflin, and Florida; victories over Voorhees and Haines. Coaches Williams and McCain are working out plans for a winning combination next season—a combination centered around Butler. Rountree, and Canty in the backfield and Phillips and Boykins on the line.

OTHER SPORTS

Although the conference has strongly advocated interscholastic competition in baseball, track, tennis, and basketball, little has been done by the schools except in basketball. Nevertheless Morris College is perfecting plans for such teams. Next season we expect our boys and girls to place basketball teams in competition with other schools of the conference. As to track, we need only an extension of our present intermural contests which are fostered by our physical education department. Tennis, too, is expected to be given greater consideration next season. Interscholastic competition will depend here also upon a similar development of tennis activities at other schools.

With our present coaching staff and physical education facilities, Morris College is looking forward to a participation in all major sports.

Likewise Morris College is seeking to make its activities so varied as to meet the requirements of the entire student body.

PEP SQUAD
